

ly the same work. And she wondered why.

At 15, when mill girls were agitating for better wages, Annie got them their rights. Immediately they chose her to represent them upon the district committee trade union. For this she received 15 cents a week.

Annie Kenny became a corresponding student of the Ruskin College, Oxford. Three years later the Lancashire mill worker came to London alone.

Before the year was out she was arrested for trying to see the prime minister. Followed a long series of arrests, hunger strikes, and releases under the Cat and Mouse Act.

"If I cannot change some of the laws affecting women I can at least die in the attempt," says Annie Kenny.

MRS. PATTEN TELLS STORY

Mrs. Frances Polls-Patten, the deserted young wife, who forged when her efforts to raise child on the $9 a week she received as a grocery store clerk failed, says she will pay the men to whom she passed the bad checks when she gets out.

Mrs. Patten's husband deserted her two years ago. Then came the fight to support herself and the child. But the odds were uneven. She was arrested for passing a bad check for $25 on Thomas Noval, a butcher, 4024 Lincoln avenue.

She says there were only two things left for her to do when she committed the forgery—do what she did, or take the "easiest way."

VROOMAN LASHES DUNNE

Carl S. Vrooman, one of the many Democratic candidates for the United States senate, today openly split with Gov. Dunne and wrote an open letter in which he said Dunne had "forfeited the right to be any longer regarded as the real leader of the Illinois progressive Democrats by his refusal to chose a Democratic candidate for senator."

EXPLAINS HIS REASON FOR THE DOUBLE ASSASSINATION

Serajevo, Bosnia, July 1.—Defiance of all organized government was made here today by Gavrilo Princip, the youth held for the murder of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria and his wife, the Countess of Hohenberg.

Interrogated in an attempt to discover plotters who are believed to have been behind the double murder, Princip avowed his own responsibility and defied the authorities.

"Anarchistic literature," the youthful slayer told his questioners, "has convinced me that one can give no greater service to his fellows than the assassination of their rulers."

Police activity was great here today and several arrests were believed to be imminent, as the result of investigation into Princip's murderous act.

Princip, it was definitely announced, will be held before a civil court. It is reported that because he has not attained his majority Princip will escape with imprisonment.

POLICE MAKE GOOD PINCH

Six months ago Capt. Halpin, chief of detectives, was told that if he had a certain North Side woman watched he might obtain evidence that would lead to the arrest of three men in connection with the robbery of the Garfield Park Bank messenger.

Yesterday in Cleveland three men and a woman, believed to be Al Johnson, Fred Parker, Henry Shea and the latter's wife, were arrested. They are wanted on the charge of robbing John Valentine, Wheeling, Ill., who was held up, bound and gagged a few months ago.

But Halpin is of the opinion they may be connected with the bank messenger robbery and also the hold-up of Mandel Bros.' barn, in which a wagon man was killed.

Among the 1,500 inhabitants in the Joliet (Ill.) prison there is not one printer.
